Dear FCC:

DOCKET FILE COPY ORIGINAL

I hope you will rule to keep Net Neutrality. By having Net Neutrality and keeping it financially feasible for most people to afford it helps to reduce the class gap that is growing. We need to expand coverage to areas that are rural or urban areas that are impoverished to help to create an environment that will nurture education, job expansion and keep small businesses growing and flourishing. In my own life I have used it to take on line classes, to keep in touch with family and to research Net Neutrality along with so many other subjects.

If our providers are in charge both cost and our ability to access certain sites will be disrupted. Larger companies with deeper pockets will be able to afford better bandwidths and keep young less well moneyed businesses from growing or starting at all.

I am concerned that if the rules are changed this needed service will become too expensive for many. Once again leaving many without the ability to participate in education, job improvement, government and family communication.

Thank you for your time and service

Sincerely,

Joan Bledsoe
